BASIC-ABSTRACT:

New hygienic articles, including paper diapers, tampons, and napkins, are made of materials mixed with dry-powder cyclodextrin opt. including substances safe to the body.

Cyclodextrin and perfumes or essential oils are dried and powdered by spraying-drying. The powder obtained is filled or impregnated in the absorbing, waterproofing, or structural material of, e.g., diapers.

USE/ADVANTAGE - Moisture and heat of excretions causes the cyclodextrin to release the perfume, thus masking the bad smell. It thus eliminates troublesome partial removal of, e.g. the diaper to check possible excreta.
